This year's keynote speaker is Gene Nichol, recipient of the 2014 Joanne Arnold Courage and Commitment Award. While serving as Dean of the Law School, Professor Nichol chaired the first CU-Boulder Task Force on Gay and Lesbian Issues in the early 1990's, creating the blueprint of several LGBTQIA programs and resources that exist at the university today. An exceptional scholar-activist, and former President of the College of William and Mary, Professor Nichol is currently Boyd Tinsley Distinguished Professor and Director of the Center on Poverty, Work and Opportunity at the University of North Carolina in the School of Law.
